OKs Bills To Regulate JPs

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Senate Judiciary Committee has okayed emergency bills to regulate activities of salaried justices of the peace after their April 4 election in newly created districts.

But strong undercurrents of opposition ran in the committee Tuesday as it approved 2 to 1 the measures which would equalize the work loads and salaries of the JPs within each county.

The bills go to the Senate floor and the amendment stage.

They would give the Illinois Supreme Court administrator power to shift JPs from one district in the county to another, with or without the recommendation of the county board. The purpose of shifting JPs from their own district to another would be to equalize work loads. These would be determined by reports of the JPs to their boards and the administrator.

Sen. Robert McClory, R-Lake Bluff, who sponsored the bills, said the purpose of sharing the work equally between JPs within each county was to justify the equal salaries which counties must pay. Boards would be empowered to re-open budgets to adjust salaries now unequal.

The salaried system was authorized by the 1959 Legislature after the fee system fell into disrepute. McClory told the committee of lawyers the administrator can overrule a county board recommendation on shifting JPs.

Sen. Edward Eberspacher, D-Shelbyville, said "we need a court administrator like we need a hole in the head."

Sen. Joseph Peterson, R-Princeton, said he "did not want to dignify the JP courts with assignments by a court administrator who sits statewide."

The administrator determines which circuit judges are least busy and the Supreme Court on his advice shifts them to benches most burdened.

Peterson also opposed a bill to require a county board to set a place for JP court and to permit (Continued On Page Nine)

Order Charge Of Drunk Driving Reinstated

CHICAGO (AP)—Charges of drunken and negligent driving were ordered reinstated Tuesday against a motorist acquitted of the more serious charges of reckless homicide and leaving the scene of an accident.

And the plea of a dead boy's mother has resulted in an investigation by the Chicago Bar Association of Criminal Court Judge Leslie Salter's acquittal of Martin J. Bleeker, 33.

Bleeker's auto struck a group of pedestrians on the South Side last May. One youth, Floyd Christensen, 18, was killed. Four youths were injured.

The state's attorney's office agreed last month to drop the drunken driving charge and to prosecute Bleeker for the other two.

Salter acquitted Bleeker last week, deciding there was insufficient evidence against Bleeker.

State Atty. Daniel P. Ward, ordering the drunken driving charge reinstated, said he has asked Joseph Depke, his assistant in traffic court, to explain the dropping of the charge.

The negligent driving charge will be pressed by the City of Chicago, and Frank Wilson, assistant corporation counsel in Traffic Court.

Christensen's mother, Mrs. Alfred Christensen, appealed to Salter after the acquittal, then wrote to the bar association.

Illinois Assembly Gets Wage Bill, Call For End To DST

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Bills calling for a dollar an hour minimum wage in Illinois and abolition of daylight saving time were introduced in the General Assembly Tuesday.

The session's first big money bill—a $67 million deficiency appropriation for the Illinois Public Aid Commission—also was tossed into the legislative hopper.

Other measures introduced would set up a state labor board to prevent unfair labor practices, establish a branch of Northern Illinois University at Sterling-Rock Falls, appropriate $1.5 million for a mental hospital at Centralia, and eliminate admission fees at state parks.

Reps. William Pierce, D-Rockford, and Carl Soderstrom, R-Streator, coauthored the $1 an hour minimum wage measure.

Under the bill, employers with four or more workers would be required to pay workers at least $1 an hour. The only exemptions would be domestic, agricultural, motion pictures and charitable help.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Lake Bluff, who sponsored the bills, said the purpose of sharing the work equally between JPs within each county was to justify the equal salaries which counties must pay. Boards would be empowered to re-open budgets to adjust salaries now unequal.

Committee OKs Weaver To High Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee on an 11-4 vote today approved Robert C. Weaver, New York Negro, to be the government's housing administrator.

The committee action sends the nomination on to the Senate where it could encounter some debate and opposition. But eventual Senate approval seems certain.

The hearing was delayed Tuesday until Kennedy sent word to Capitol Hill that he had reviewed Weaver's loyalty file. Weaver later denied membership in several organizations alleged to have Communist links.

Hopes of Democratic leaders to get the nomination through the Senate this week appear to have evaporated.

Sen. Willis Robertson, D-Va., banking chairman and an opponent of the nomination, said he was sure this would not be possible.

Sen. Marshall Korshak, D-Chicago, introduced the $67 million deficiency appropriation measure to enable the Illinois Public Aid Commission to continue its aid programs until the end of the biennium, June 30.

Without the appropriation, Korshak warned, the IPAC would run out of funds by March 1.

Sen. Russell Arrington, R-Evans- ton, long-time critic of the IPAC, introduced a series of measures he said were aimed at trimming public aid rolls and reducing costs.

Expect Customers To Sue Firms Found Guilty Of Price Fixing

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The government breakup of the giant conspiracy in the $2-billion-a-year heavy electrical equipment industry, halting illegal price fixing and bid rigging, may be followed by many civil suits.

Customers may seek to recover thousands of dollars, perhaps millions in alleged overpayments. Such action could be in the courts for years. The suing customer must prove he was damaged by price-fixing or bid-rigging. This is not easy, attorneys said.

Industry sources, meantime, said equipment prices remain virtually unchanged.

The intensive federal probe that began 18 months ago ended Tuesday as U. S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Ganey finished sentencing 29犯人 and 44 of their top executives.

The industry's two biggest firms—General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.—bore the courtroom where he imposed total fines of $1,924,500 and 30-day jail terms for seven men.

A 45th individual, too ill to appear, will be sentenced later. There were 20 indictments in all, brought in by four separate All the indictments accused the defendants of fixing prices, maintaining them at high and artificial levels and restraining, suppressing and eliminating competition. The defendants either pleaded guilty or no defense. The judge said both were equal admissions of the charges.

Company fines, totalling $1,787,000, must be paid within 10 days. Individuals, assessed $137,500, must pay within 20 days.

The seven jailed will serve their prison terms, starting next Monday, in the Montgomery county jail at nearby Norristown, Pa.

The industry's two biggest firms—General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.—bore the brunt of the penalties. Government lawyers said they do over 60 per cent of the total business. GE was fined $437,500, Westinghouse $382,000. Sixteen GE executives, three of them ordered jailed, were fined $55,000, while 14 Westinghouse officials must pay $27,000, two of them to go to jail.

The industry supplies most of the equipment for transmission, generating and distribution of electric power to operate television sets and toasters in virtually every American home.

The transformers, oil circuit breakers, watt hour meters, insulators and other items help operate submarines, battleships, atomic energy plants and dams.

The U. S. economy depends on this equipment, Judge Ganey noting this, called the violations "shocking."

Grand juries. The 14 remaining were disposed of Tuesday, after Monday's five-hour session.

Evacuate Many By Boat—

Water Flips Cars As St. Louis Main Breaks

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A huge water main broke at 4:30 a.m. today and sent tons of icy water cascading down north St. Louis streets, flooding hundreds of homes and overturning cars.

A number of persons were evacuated by boat. Authorities said there was no known loss of life. At least nine persons, most of them suffering from exposure and shock, were taken to hospitals.

Natural gas service was affected and many householders were without heat in 20-degree cold.

Streets on the fringe area of the flooded sections quickly turned to sheets of ice.

The sudden rupture in the main, one of the largest in St. Louis, sent up a geyser of water beneath a large water tower on a knoll (at 20th and East Grand Boulevard).

Water pressure failed over a wide area. There was no water in some sections of downtown St. Louis, three miles away.

Emergency crews were still attempting to shut off the flow of water four hours after the break by turning off valves encircling the area. The break was believed to be in a 48-inch steel main just beneath the water tower.

Harry Mester, acting deputy fire chief, said at least eight adults and one baby had been taken to hospitals. None was believed in serious condition.

Mester said the American Red Cross and Salvation Army had been asked to help the families affected. The ban meant another day of crowding on public transportation facilities as hundreds of thousands of automobiles remained buried along streets and parkways in the city.

"If this isn't a disaster, I've never seen one," Mester said.

The boats used in checking homes and in rescuing a few families included one supplied by the U.S. Coast Guard.

The odor of gas hung over the area when a Fire Department rescue squad started up the ice-choked Hudson River today to deliver more than 100,000 barrels of gasoline and heating oil for New York communities where shortages were reported. The bulk of the fuel was bound for Newburgh for distribution.

In Washington, D.C., the capital's snow-a-week schedule was right on time with a fall officially reported at 3 to 5 inches. Heavy snow warnings were out for northern and western Virginia and snow and sleet was spreading from North Carolina into southern Pennsylvania.

The Lacled Gas Co. reported it was receiving an unusual number of calls from the area. "The extent of the failure is not known," one gas company official said. "But I can tell you we're having our troubles."

The 20-degree cold followed a 2½-inch snowfall Tuesday on top of seven inches remaining on the ground from storms last week.

Look For 8,000 Needles Holding Radioactivity

CHICAGO (AP)—Not a needle in the haystack, but 8,000 golden needles in a big city are the object of a police search today. The reason: they contain small, weakened amounts of radioactivity.

The needles, which had been used for treating cancer patients, were stolen Monday night in a burglary at the International Quicksilver Industries on the West Side. The company planned to melt them down to recover the gold.

The burglary triggered a short-lived scare Tuesday until the atomic energy commission said it was receiving no reports of radiation leakage.

The needles were implanted with radon, a radioactive gas, and were stored in four lead containers sealed with tape.

Police said the hot haul might have been tossed into a river or Lake Michigan, but Dr. Samuel Andelman, Chicago health commissioner, said he doubted the radioactivity would be sufficient to endanger the water supply.

On the theory the loot may have been tossed into a children's play area, schools were asked to warn pupils to be careful what they picked up.

An Argonne spokesman said a new burn might be caused if a person placed all of the needles near his skin.

'TRIP ESSENTIAL?' QUESTION BRINGS RARE TALES OF WOE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Is the trip essential?" the overcoated policeman asks.

"Certainly, it's essential," the motorist replies. "I've got to be to the low radioactive content" of the needles.

It's a scene repeated thousands of times each day since Mayor Robert F. Wagner banned all non-essential auto travel in New York City as a result of the weekend snow storm.

Motorists in the city are haled down by patrolmen. Motorists trying to enter the city are met at the city line, questioned and most are turned back.

And never, police say, have they heard so many ingenious tales of woe.

"I'm going to a party Friday night," a lady said on the George Washington Bridge coming in from New Jersey. "There's only one New York specialty shop where I can get fitted..."

"That's fine," the policeman said. "But try a bus."

Every Home A Freedom Forum

Let's Restore Patriotism

(From The San Diego Union)

THE KOREAN WAR turned up a basic weakness in America—not of strength but of heart. The blood of many young men poured out over the snow and they died in doubt and bitterness. American prisoners of war succumbed to enemy blandishments in unprecedented numbers.

What was wrong? What had happened in America in the previous decade, or decades, that cut youth adrift from faith and patriotism, that took away their capacity to understand the meaning of sacrifice?

The answer, of course, lies a long way from Korea. It goes back to the universities, the colleges, the schools, and the home—and the waves of attacks on the values of society and the dignity of the individual.

The truth of this was brought home to hundreds of persons, mostly young people, who attended the San Diego Freedom Forum.

Two speakers in particular told the story of how it happened.

William Teague, president of Pepperdine College, Los Angeles, told how it began:

"It started way back in the early 1930's, when it became fashionable to be liberal in criticism of American economic enterprise and history, and the elimination from textbooks of such patriotic remarks as Commodore Perry's "Don't Give Up the Ship," and John Paul Jones' "I Have Only Just Begun to Fight."

Maj. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, commander of the Marine Corps Depot, showed the result in Korea:

"The Communists alerted us to the knowledge that our fighting man was ignorant of the issues, hopelessly naive in political matters and unable adequately to defend himself in a dialectical discussion. They proved he was unaccustomed with the origins of his own system and of its contrasts with the Communist system, and was strongly influenced by material things and addicted to the soft life."

Was this merely an unusual situation due to our being unprepared psychologically for the Korean War?

Well, let's listen to the general again on the situation today:

"Only half the men entering the Marines can make a rational explanation of the meaning of the Fourth of July, and fewer can discriminate intelligently among the Constitution, Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence.

"They are aware that communism is bad and that they should be against it, but they don't know what they are against . . . even worse, most of them are not sure what they are for."

The men in Korea did not know what they were fighting for, and were unprepared to accept or understand the reasons.

This, then, still is a picture of too many young people today—a generation adrift from the basic principles of life and freedom. These things don't come naturally—they must be learned, must become a part of and a way of our life.

The Freedom Forums, such as the one just conducted in San Diego, will go a long way to help restore the concepts of patriotism. But, in the end, we must reach down and down through the entire educational system, and finally into the homes, if we are to survive.

How is this to be done? Time is against us. Mr. Teague said the Communists have been patient and they "can wait for the generation which is receptive," which is now being made receptive.

Every school, every home, must become a Freedom Forum.

Boyle Crowds 50; Glances Back With Wonder On Swift Journey

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Help! I am on the verge of being 50 years old.

When a glance at the calendar told me that this month I'd reach the half-century mark, at first I simply couldn't believe it.

Then as the inescapable certainty dawned on me that it was only too true, I felt a sense of indignation. What angered me most was seeing strangers laughing and joking as I passed them on the street.

What kind of dull clods were they? How could they smile during a month in which one of their fellow creatures—even if they didn't know him—was turning 50?

Well, that's human nature for you.

This feeling of resentment was succeeded by one of numb horror. Where had the last 10 years gone? Why, wasn't it only yesterday that Father Time had pushed me, kicking and screaming, past my 40th milestone?

I had decided then that a man's 40th birthday was the worst moment in his life. Life begins at 40? I was sure that what began at 40 was second childhood—and in a way it does. (It is at least another adolescence, and any adolescence is trying, even one without pimples.)

How quickly the decade since I was 40 had fled on antelope feet. And so little to show for its passage! That is one of the hardest facts to adjust to in middle age: The days often seem endless, but the years go by like railway cars in the night.

And now I stand on the edge of 50, still wondering how it happened.

The puzzlement still endures, but I am no longer resentful or horrified. After all, you can't whip off time.

And in a way time has changed me very little. I was born bald, fat and howling at the world's injustice. Fifty years later that still describes me about as well as anything.

There is also one tremendous consolation denied to many my age. The first lady I saw on earth is still alive at 73, although her hair is now almost as white as the snow that fell outside our home the stormy day she bore me back in 1911.

She knows I am a birthday fighter, and as usual she'll send me a card and a scrawled note of advice:

"Son, son, don't struggle so hard against what has to be put up with. When will you ever learn to sit loosely in the saddle of life?"

She'll also know—whatever I think of turning 50—that I am still deeply grateful for our first meeting, and every year we've shared, together or apart, since then.

A really elderly gentleman of 55 I know told me:

"My boy, you are just entering the true golden years. They hold priceless rewards you have never had a chance to enjoy until now."

I tell me about those rewards," I asked.

"Right now I'm on my way to see the doctor about my arthritis. It's killing me."

Oh, well.

Never laugh at anyone reaching 50. Just keep your chin up—and it'll happen to you. If you're lucky, it'll happen to you.

Atlas Had It Easy

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The new secretary of state, Dean Rusk, is a technician and neither an actor nor a politician.

This tall, round-faced, scholarly looking man, who will be 52 Thursday, is unsensational in voice and statements. He gives the impression that whenever this government has anything important to announce in foreign affairs it will be President Kennedy who does it, not Rusk.

It wasn't that way with John Foster Dulles, President Dwight D. Eisenhower's first secretary of state who died in 1959.

Dulles was both a bit of an actor and a politician, a secretary who made flamboyant statements which got into headlines but often panned out.

You'd have to swim a lot of diplomatic channels before finding two men more unlike than Rusk and Dulles at their first news conferences.

Rusk held his first State Department news conference Monday. For all the solid news involved Rusk could have done without the meeting with the press.

He apparently called it to get across the idea that he'll try to be helpful in getting out news. But he also said that whenever he thinks the good of the country requires it, he'll clam up.

This was a frank promise of what to expect. It was in keeping with a statement he made before taking office—that he wants more State Department candor.

Rusk had no solutions for anything and, like Kennedy, warned against expecting quick ones.

Dulles was a lawyer who could use the language precisely as it suited him to get the effect he wanted.

Rusk gives the impression of a man who uses the language not for effect but for caution.

Dulles broke all records for travel by a secretary of state. He was endlessly on the move as if he felt a job couldn't be well done unless he did it.

Rusk isn't likely to do much running around since he believes strongly in depending on a trained diplomatic corps.

He had written that the secretary of state must be the central figure in developing foreign policy. But this doesn't mean he will seek the headlines himself.

It's this writer's guess that Rusk will be a modest secretary who lets the President make the big pronouncements while he and his staff work quietly out of sight as much as possible.

Little City Rebuilds Lives Of Unfortunate Children

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M. D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Just about the most exciting medical project that has come to my attention in many a moon is the opening of Little City on a 60-acre tract of land just 35 miles northwest of Chicago.

When completed, Little City will be an almost completely self-contained community whose "citizens" will be mentally retarded, blind, deaf and palsied children.

It will have 30 cottages, each housing 17 youngsters with their "house parents" and other staff members. The 500 or more anticipated "students" will have access to a large school building where they will receive education at nursery and primary levels, and there will be facilities for occupational therapy, training in industrial arts and courses in home economics.

There will be a hospital with clinical facilities for training and research, a chapel, gymnasium-auditorium, a playground and a picnic grove.

And, almost best of all, there will be an "exit cottage" for those whose development has advanced to a stage where they appear likely to be able to earn an independent living and to progress from the Little City to a larger community.

The present population of Little City is only 46 of whom 30 are mentally retarded youngsters between the ages of 12 and 22 years.

Ruth Millett Fleeting TV No Match For the Printed Page

Did you ever notice how much less sure people are of their facts when they start telling you something they heard in the "papers"?

The recount of news heard on TV is always stumbling and saying, "I didn't get in on the start so I'm not sure who the man being interviewed was but . . ." Or "I didn't get to hear all of the program because a neighbor dropped in." Or "I can't remember the figures exactly. Wish I had written them down."

The fact is that we do most of our TV listening pretty hazily. We "just happen" to turn on the set in the middle of a program and so miss important background material.

Or we listen while we work—giving the TV set only part of our attention. Or we try to listen while talk goes on around us. Or we get called to the telephone, or the door bell rings and we miss something important.

And, what TV you can't go back and pick up where you left off. What is missed is missed.

But the morning and the evening paper get different treatment. You take a quiet break to read the news. If you are interrupted you go back and pick up where you left off. If you don't quite understand a point, you read it over. If you want to remember a name or a set of figures you concentrate on setting them in your memory.

If you think you may want to refer later to what you have read, you clip the story and save it.

That is why when a man says "I see by the papers . . ." he usually doesn't stumble around trying to repeat information the way he does when he says, "Last night I heard this TV commentator—can't remember his name—well, anyway when I tuned in he was saying . . ."

RAYMOND WATSON FOR MAYOR

PRIMARY ELECTION

Tuesday, February 28, 1961

RAY WATSON SAYS:

I am a candidate for Mayor
Because . . .

Jacksonville is our home . . . where our children are growing up . . .
its welfare is and should be important to us all.

The best decisions for Jacksonville can be made only in a spirit of harmony and friendship. The Mayor and city council have a duty to work together for the benefit of all of the citizens.

The Mayor and City Council should work with all groups . . . Service Clubs, PTA, Chamber of Commerce, Jacksonville Association of Merchants, Veterans and Labor organizations, church and women's groups and many others to get opinions and advice on city matters.

Jacksonville should take advantage of its plentiful supply of water, its two power companies and its many other fine points. We can use new business and industry to provide more employment and we should be able to attract it.

I believe in active and positive management of the trust imposed by the citizens of Jacksonville in their Mayor.

I will deeply appreciate your support.

Charles Melton Dies In Pike; Rites Wednesday

PITTSFIELD — Charles Edward Melton of Pittsfield died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clara Bond in Pittsfield, Monday morning after a long illness.

He was born March 6, 1873, at Vernon, Ill., the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Melton. His wife, the former Lillian Jeffers, died 37 years ago.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Clara Bond, Mrs. Fern Dummitt, both of Pittsfield, Mrs. Jane Harney, Galesburg, and two sons, James Melton, New Salem, and Lester Melton, East St. Louis. There are 13 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

One sister, Mrs. Virginia Lininger of Streator, Ill., survives her brother.

The body is at the Plattner Funeral Home where funeral services were held Wednesday at 2 p.m., Rev. Joe Maynard officiating. Burial was made in West cemetery.

NEW YORK BURIED — Times Square, New York's Gay White Way, is white but not so gay. A lone policeman stands by as snow removal work goes on near the Hotel Astor. Times Square took on a morgue-like atmossphere as Mayor Robert Wagner banned all non-essential motor traffic while the city continued to dig out from the snowstorm that belted the northeast. (NEA Telephoto)

St. Mark's Altar Society At Ferenback Home In Scott

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — The ladies of St. Mark's Altar Society in Winchester will meet Wednesday following Novena services at the church at the home of Mrs. Robert Ferenback instead of the regularly scheduled Thursday evening. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Howard Lockman and Miss Catherine Carter.

Mrs. Nell Ring, president, and Father James O'Hara, pastor at St. Mark's, will preside over the business session. A report will be given by the ways and means committee and plans will be furthered for the church's annual St. Patrick's ham dinner to be held this year on Sunday, March 12. Servings will be held at 5:30, 6:30, and 7:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 and may be obtained by calling Mrs. Ferenback at PI 2-3222.

Adult Education Classes

Adults in the Winchester community are reminded to be sure and register for the adult education classes to be offered at the local high school commencing this Thursday, Feb. 9, at 7:00 p.m.

The commercial department, under the supervision of Miss Ramona Lawson, will offer the ten week course in intermediate typing, intermediate shorthand, or a combination of the two.

Willitt Pierce, vocational agriculture instructor, will offer two or three subjects to the farmers of the community and they will choose the subject they would most like to study.

William Lashmett, teacher at the elementary school, is offering classes in adult physical education to be held at the grade school gym. Those registering for this must furnish their own shoes, towels, and gym clothing.

Each course is $5 per person and the courses will last three hours each evening, meeting once a week for the ten week period.

The local board of education has approved these courses but they may be held only if enough adults register in order to get state approval. There is a minimum number which has not yet been reached.

Themes Need System, Not Inspiration

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.,
 with HARRY KARNIS

The ability to organize and express thoughts clearly and concisely is one of the greatest assets a student can possess.

As you go up the ladder in school, you will be asked more and more often to write themes, reports, and essays. Your grades in some courses will depend almost entirely on how well you have written your reports.

It is unfortunate that many students approach the act of writing with a sense of awe. You do not have to be a literary genius to write a competent paper. In fact, it is better to get rid of the idea that "inspiration" is needed.

Simply go about it as you would any other project. Decide what is to be done and figure out the most logical way to do it.

Here are some steps that will help you in mapping your written reports:

1. Make sure you understand exactly what the teacher expects you to write about.

If you are not sure, write a sentence stating what you believe the subject to be and show it to the instructor.

Understanding of the topic can save you much fretting and many hours of work. You may write the finest paper in the world, but if it is not on the topic assigned, you are going to be in trouble.

2. Make a list of places to look for material for the report.

Most student research is done in libraries. Your research will be made easier and more effective if you ask the teacher or librarian how to use encyclopedias, the New York Times Index, the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature, and the library card file system itself.

As you consult such sources, make a list of the books, magazines, newspapers, and pamphlets which offer some promise of giving the information you want. Behind each reference, write down the page number.

- 1. Plan
- 2. Research Sources
- 3. Gather Material
- 4. Organize Material

Be Selective

3. Now start gathering the information from these sources.

Make notes in your own words; don't just copy what the writer has written, unless, of course, you intend to quote him word for word. Credit the source.

Don't copy material down in wholesale lots. Be selective. Ask yourself: "Does this actually pertain to the subject?"

This doesn't mean you should accumulate only a few notes. Gather plenty of material that you can use. It is better to have some facts and ideas left over than to have too few.

When you find that you have run out of things to say and yet have not written a substantial paper, this is the signal to go back and do more research. Don't try to "bluff" it out. If your teacher is a good editor of reports, he'll detect your effort to pad.

4. After gathering your material, organize it.

That is, make an outline. Decide which ideas are the big ideas, and which ideas are the smaller, supporting ideas. Decide the order in which these ideas should appear in the finished product.

The extent to which you use these suggestions will be governed, of course, by the nature and the length of the paper you are asked to write. Normally, a one-page theme will not require the research required for a four-page report.

If your assignment is a lengthy term paper, you will want to consult one of the many fine books that have been written to guide you in that kind of project.

Of the four steps described above, the one most likely to spell success or failure for your paper is Number 4.

How to Outline

If you have never learned to make an outline, you should take time out right now to learn how.

First, open a book to a brief chapter. The first paragraph or so, perhaps even the first sentence, will contain a statement of what the chapter is about. Write Roman numeral I on the top line of a sheet of paper, and copy that sentence behind it.

Second, find the main ideas or items of information in the remainder of the chapter which explain or support statement number

I. Place them under I in their proper order as statements A, B, C, D, etc. and so forth.

Let us use a simple example. A book on guinea pigs might contain a chapter which opens with the statement that guinea pigs make excellent pets. The chapter also explains that guinea pigs are clean animals, that they are strong and rarely get sick, and that they whistle at their masters when they want carrots.

After you have practiced outlining material that is already written, reverse the process. Write down a list of observations, thoughts, and facts about a subject with which you are familiar. Now take another sheet of paper and rearrange this material in a logical, sensible order.

Usually, the pattern of a piece of writing is more complex. But with patience you can figure out that pattern if you start with these keys: One, find the biggest idea. Two, find the supporting ideas and facts.

After you have practiced outlining material that is already written, reverse the process. Write down a list of observations, thoughts, and facts about a subject with which you are familiar. Now take another sheet of paper and rearrange this material in a logical, sensible order.

You will get from this a sense of harmony and rightness which will give you enthusiasm and confidence when you start the actual writing of your report.

Young birds do not have to be taught to fly. However, adult birds try to lure the young from their nests to encourage them to follow their natural instincts.

The president, Miss Shirley Stewart, called the meeting to order. The pledge to the flag was given and one verse of "America" was sung, Miss Connie McClain accompanying on the piano.

The secretary-treasurer, Miss Judy Stewart, read minutes of the last meeting and reported the successful venture of the bake sale, Jan. 14. The president announced that the Mother Auxiliary has voted to give the Junior Auxiliary a sum for miscellaneous needs.

Following the business meeting a program on "Americanism" was given. Each member brought an item that had been in the family a long time to follow the American heritage theme. Displayed and discussed were dishes, wooden butter molds, flat irons, fold-away eating tool used during the Civil War. A bayonet from a rifle of the same period; a doll from 1870's and three other dolls; a cameo black and a tin-type picture of the lady who wore them; a mechanical toy lady, an iron bank and a wash bowl and pitcher.

Also on display was the book "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War" by Ned Bradford. Since this year is the 100th year since the war between the North and South, Miss Connie McClain read the Gettysburg Address as written in the 5th draft by A. Lincoln. ## Make Study Of Proposed Lake At Petersburg

PETERSBURG—Officers of the Lake Petersburg Association report that Menard county people are showing a great interest in the proposed lake and that many will want to buy lots.

The proposed lake will be located south and west of Petersburg, in the vicinity of New Salem State Park and will cover 238 acres of land. Total land under option by the association amounts to more than 900 acres, and the entire area is expected to yield 700 building lots each of approximately 10,000 square feet in area. Impounding water for the lake will be a 70 foot dam located just west of highway 97 and 123, on the Edward Pierce property. Water depth at the dam will be 50 feet and the entire lake area will carry considerable depth since the valley which will make up the main body of the lake runs fairly level through out.

Lots will be sold to individuals and organizations with some areas to be zoned for residential construction, others for summer cottages and others for commercial use.

The board of directors of the Lake Petersburg Association met and made preliminary studies of the aerial maps of the proposed lake area which were recently received. Members who head the various committees in charge of arrangements for the lake project reported that all phases of work aimed at the eventual construction of the lake are going along as planned. At present lots are being laid out on the final maps and when this phase of planning is completed, lots will be offered to the public.

Why Does A Ball Curve?

What Is Happening Under All That Snow?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Curve balls, thunder, copper atoms and Spring trouble coming are subjects for science at work: Curve Ball

What makes a spinning ball—baseball, table tennis or golf—curve?

A side force, something like a cross wind, develops to push the ball aside, scientists reported at the American Physical Society meeting.

A baseball pitched at moderate speed, spinning 30 revolutions a second, can move up to 1½ feet off course by the time it crosses the plate. A slow pitch curves more than a fast one, since it spends more time curving.

Experts say there is scientific evidence for a sharp-breaking pitch—a baseball taking a sudden change of direction.

Measure an Atom

Copper atoms behave as if they were tiny round balls—so small it would take 99½ million of them lined up to make an inch.

How do physicists know? They use an electric plating device to measure the amount of charge it takes to deposit a certain amount of copper on an electrode.

If you buy a pound of copper, they say, you are buying 4,300,000,000,000,000,000,000 (43 and 23 zeros) copper atoms.

Anatomy of Thunder

Why does thunder rumble when heard from a distance?

The rumble is partially an echo of the original thunder clap, reflected back from a layer of ice.

water and water vapor in the ter- thundercell itself, a researcher re- ports.

Somewhat the severe frost seems to add extra zip to the germination of crab grass seeds, report horticulturists for the Dow Chemical Co. Crab grass dies every fall, but leaves an enormous crop of seeds to sprout in the spring.

The seeds also benefit from the frost break-up of the soil and the added moisture from heavy snows. Crab grass killers prevent sprouts better after a hard win—new seeds from germinating.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE?

By Henry Farrell
Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Edwin Flagg, who has never done a day's work in his life, has sacrificed to give his musical education, plans to answer an ad for an accompanist. He does not know that the ad was placed by a mentally deranged old woman, the former child star Baby Jane Hudson.

XV
Mr. Edwin Flagg. Jane Hudson liked the name. It sounded stalwart and patriotic. She glanced about, checking the room in preparation for the interview. She heard the approaching footsteps on the terrace and looked at the clock. Mr. Flagg believed in promptness.

Luncheon Given For Girl Scout Council Leaders

Girl Scout leaders, assistant leaders and troop organizers of Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council were guests of honor at a sweet-heart luncheon given by the Council in recognition of the service rendered by these women working directly with girls.

Sixty-three persons had registered for the luncheon which was held in the private dining room of Hamilton's Cafeteria. As the guests arrived they were given heart-shaped name tags and a get-acquainted time was enjoyed. In spite of the bad weather guests were present from Carrollton, Waverly, Franklin and Winchester in addition to Jacksonville.

Mrs. Frank Crawley of Jacksonville, a member of both Springfield and Morgan County Garden clubs, was the principal speaker at the luncheon and gave an interesting talk on flower arrangements. She had set up eight arrangements which were on display and demonstrated the making of an arrangement during her talk.

Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, retiring president of the Council, welcomed the guests preceding the luncheon and Mrs. Robert Hartman, executive director, gave the invocation. Tables were arranged in a U-shape and were decorated in the Valentine theme. Decorated nut cups and collapsible valentines were the favors at each place.

Between courses guests were introduced by communities or by schools. Mrs. William Gross, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Howard Choate, newly-elected president, presented two Girl Scout rose bushes to Mrs. Hartman, as a token of appreciation from the Council. Mrs. Choate also drew names for door prizes which consisted of a floral centerpiece and two paper Valentine coaches. These were won by Miss Adrienne Wickenden of MacMurray College, and Mrs. Robert Patterson and Mrs. Ralph Mudd, of this city.

Because of the success of the luncheon, Illinois Prairie Council is making plans to have an annual event of some sort in recognition of services rendered by those women who volunteer to work with troops.

Penitentiary Sentence For Burglary Here

A parolee from the St. Charles State training school, Charles G. Hennessey, 19, of Springfield, was sentenced Wednesday in Morgan county circuit court to from one to 12 years in the state penitentiary on a charge of burglary. Hennessey formerly lived in Jacksonville.

He was accused of burglarizing the Russell Taylor Grocery Store, 300 East Lafayette avenue, on Nov. 13, 1960, pleading guilty to the charge.

Jesse Lawson, 18 year old Jacksonville youth, who also pleaded guilty to the store burglary in which Hennessey was implicated, was admitted to probation for a five year period by Judge Creel Douglass.

Strict probationary terms were laid down by the court. It was set forth in the probation rules that he will make his home w'h a relative at Edwardsville and earn a trade; shall not remain out of his home after 11 p.m., and shall make monthly reports to the Morgan county probation officer.

Plan Breakfasts For Men During Lenten Season

Under the direction of the Ecumenical Relations committee of the Jacksonville Council of Churches, breakfasts for men, during the Lenten season, will be held each Thursday morning at 8 o'clock at the Hamilton Restaurant, beginning February 16.

The breakfasts are open to all men, irrespective of race, color or creed. The purpose of the meetings is to develop a devotional attitude or mind centered around the last forty days of the life of God's Son.

The following ministers will lead the devotions: Feb. 16, Rev. Frederick G. Tyrrell; Feb. 23, the Rev. Gerald L. Miller; March 2, the Rev. Lewis Olson; March 9, the Rev. Edward G. Anderson; March 16, the Rev. Reginald M. Harris; March 23, the Rev. Lando Elzen, and March 30, the Rev. Delbert Thies.

Each minister will be assisted by a layman from his congregation.

Season tickets are now being sold by appointed laymen in each church, or may be obtained by use of a revoked credit card at the Shell Oil station in Beardstown, and to pay court costs.

State's Attorney Dick Mills told the city court Monday that Gray owed Carl Wubker of the Shell Service station $62.95, secured on three occasions by presentation of a revoked credit card.

Mrs. Caruthers Of Waverly Dies; Funeral Thursday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House has approved a bill setting up a 15-member commission to see if an acceptable plan can be worked out for revamping the state's revenue article.

The measure was sent to the Senate Tuesday by a 119-4 vote.

Rep. Kenneth Wendt, D-Chicago, said the purpose of his bill is to work out a compromise on a constitutional amendment that could be submitted to a statewide referendum in 1962.

"The state must have this in 1962 or we will really be in financial trouble," said Wendt, who declared the present article, dating back to 1870, belongs in the "horse and buggy" days.

The existing article has been criticized by some tax experts as being too restrictive. They contend the article, in effect, prevents intangible wealth from being taxed.

Rep. William Pollack of Chicago, Republican minority leader, said Gov. Otto Kerner "seems to think this will be helpful."

"Maybe this commission can give us some new ideas," said Pollack in supporting the measure.

In other action, the House adopted an amendment by Rep. Clyde Choate, D-Anna, earmarking $5.1 million surplus in driver education funds for state aid to schools.

State School Supt. George Wilson said last week the fund derived from driver license fees for classroom driving instruction has accumulated a big surplus.

The remains are at Bates funeral home.

Only 100 escape from having dental decay.

The Lincoln Memorial in Washington was completed in 1922.

Plan Roaring 20's Concert And Dance

A combination band and orchestra undertaking for both students and parents will be presented Saturday evening, Feb. 25th, by instrumental students in Jacksonville High School. A Roaring Twenties Concert by the JHS Orchestra will precede a dance with music by the school Dance Band, in the gym at Turner Junior High.

Weatherman's Blunder Big Dollar Day Aid

With the sun beaming down brightly, the Weather Man was the most popular figure in the news Wednesday morning as thousands of Jacksonville Dollar Day shoppers made the rounds of stores in perfect comfort.

Popularity of the Weather Man stemmed from his historic blunder—perhaps a mistake in judgment is a milder way to describe it—in forecasting "Snow Warning" for Wednesday.

Four or five inches of snow were envisioned by the Weather Bureau, which would have made vehicular and pedestrian travel difficult on a day when everyone wanted to visit the Jacksonville business district.

Expecting the snowfall to show up during the night, West Central Illinois citizens were elated Wednesday morning when they looked out to see nothing had happened. Those who planned shopping trips not only got a break in the weather, but their luck continued when they snapped up the bargains offered by Jacksonville merchants during their Mid-winter Dollar Day Sale.

A vote of thanks appeared to be in order for the Weather Man, who proved again that you can't always be right when it comes to charting the vagaries of the elements.

About all the forecaster would admit was that the predicted snow had "moved south."

OK Setting Up Unit For State Revenue Study

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House has approved a bill setting up a 15-member commission to see if an acceptable plan can be worked out for revamping the state's revenue article.

The measure was sent to the Senate Tuesday by a 119-4 vote.

Rep. Kenneth Wendt, D-Chicago, said the purpose of his bill is to work out a compromise on a constitutional amendment that could be submitted to a statewide referendum in 1962.

"The state must have this in 1962 or we will really be in financial trouble," said Wendt, who declared the present article, dating back to 1870, belongs in the "horse and buggy" days.

The existing article has been criticized by some tax experts as being too restrictive. They contend the article, in effect, prevents intangible wealth from being taxed.

Rep. William Pollack of Chicago, Republican minority leader, said Gov. Otto Kerner "seems to think this will be helpful."

"Maybe this commission can give us some new ideas," said Pollack in supporting the measure.

In other action, the House adopted an amendment by Rep. Clyde Choate, D-Anna, earmarking $5.1 million surplus in driver education funds for state aid to schools.

State School Supt. George Wilson said last week the fund derived from driver license fees for classroom driving instruction has accumulated a big surplus.

The remains are at Bates funeral home.
